Day 2: Adventure's Out There!

Recap:

Today marks the first day of exploration for Wisconsin Wing Encampment. These days are dedicated towards career exploration, aerospace education, and fostering esprit de corps. The experiences the students have in the next few days will be remembered for the rest of their lives. Additionally, the exploration phase of encampment is one of the top reasons why cadets apply to return as cadet staff members.

Wisconsin Basic School:

A special presentation was in store for Wisconsin Basic School today! Two F-16s from the 115th Fighter Wing flew into Volk Field to provide the cadets with an exclusive tour of an active fighter jet flight deck, answer burning questions the cadets wanted to ask, and foster inspiration to never give up. Additionally, Orientation Flights began starting today. For most of the Basic School students, encampment Orientation Flights serve as their first experience flying an airplane.

Cadet Development Course:

Cadet Development Course had some exploration of their own as a United States Navy E-2 Hawkeye crew flew to Volk Field to answer any of the students questions about careers in aviation. Additionally, the students began working on their National Cadet Special Activity Project to be presented closer to the end of the week.

Wisconsin Cadet Academy:

The Wisconsin Cadet Academy began working on their own Leadership Project as they started the “meat and potatoes” of their leadership training. This project consists of taking all the skills they learned over the week and putting it into a practical scenario. Additionally, adjustments are being made to “on-the-fly” leadership styles as they continue to develop their skills each day.
